PEAVEY JOSHUA HOMME DECADE TOO

Signature Guitar Amp Combo

- Item: 66803
- Image | Translations | User Manual

Need to know for retailers

- Performance-ready version of the now-iconic 1980 Peavey Decade™ amp, famously revealed by Josh Homme (Grammy Award-winning frontman of Queens of the Stone Age and Eagles of Death Metal) as his secret tone weapon on guitar, bass, kick drum, and everything in between.
- Delivers the signature sound of Queens of the Stone Age and Eagles of Death Metal to players everywhere — ideal for rock and alternative guitarists.
- Personally voiced by Josh Homme, with added “Bass” and “Top” boosts for refined tonal control.
- Positioned as both a collectible and a practical amplifier solution, leveraging Josh Homme’s reputation and iconic sound.
- Optional “Decade Too” extension cabinet with chrome stand available for superior projection and enhancement of the DECADE TOO amplifier.

Product Features

- Based on the 1980 Peavey Decade amp
- Personally voiced by Joshua Homme (Queens of the Stone Age frontman)
- Signature sound of Queens of the Stone Age and Eagles of Death Metal
- 10-Watt Solid-State Guitar Amp Combo
- 8” Celestion driver voiced like the “Rola” speakers used from 1980 – 1983
- Pre Gain and Post Gain controls
- Unique “Saturation” switch adds tube-like sustain and rich overloaded tones
- 3-band EQ with “Bass” and “Top” enhancement switches
- Bass enhancement extends low end and shifts mid-control center-frequency
- Top enhancement changes the high frequency response to resemble an old AM Radio speaker
- Buffered Effects loop
- Remote switchable Saturation switch and Effects Send and Return loop
- Dual ¼” speaker outputs for connecting to internal speaker and optional extension cabinet
- Transformer Balanced XLR Speaker Simulated Direct Out with “DI Level” control and Ground Lift switch
- Preamp output jack to drive external power amps
- Speaker Phase switch for feedback inversion effects
- Universal AC Input for convenient use in any location, worldwide
- Easily portable amp weighing only 5 kg
- Unique solution for studio, rehearsal and home usage
- Optional “Decade Too” extension cabinet with chrome stand

Description

In a now-iconic YouTube video, Josh Homme, Grammy winner and frontman of Queens of the Stone Age and Eagles of Death Metal, revealed the secret behind his unique guitar and bass tone: the Peavey Decade™ combo amplifier. No longer a secret – Peavey's reimagined Decade™ Too brings Josh Homme's sound back to life and makes it an essential tool for guitarists looking to craft their own unique tone.

The Peavey Decade Too delivers the signature sound of Josh Homme and Queens of the Stone Age. Thanks to the unique "Saturation" switch, the Decade™ Too offers tube-like sustain and rich, overdriven tones. Weighing only 5 kg and delivering 10 watts of pure solid-state power, this compact guitar combo amp impresses with its volume, tonal range, and flexibility. Shape your own sound using the 3-band EQ refined by Josh Homme, now featuring additional "Bass" and "Top" enhancement switches that weren't available in the original model.

Packed with features and easy to carry, this amp is ready to perform at home, in the rehearsal space, and in the studio

PEAVEY JOSH HOMME DECADE TOO - B2B Download Link

Application with optional "Decade Too Extension Cabinet"

